LETS GAZE AT SOME SCENES

AS WE TRAVEL ALONG

SCHOOL BOARD

The tireless work of these men has made Griffith School what it is today, a fine upstanding school.

Seldom do we show our appreciation, however, we are, indeed, thankful. With a school board like this behind us, how can we fail to better our school, students, and community.

CLASSES

PASSENGERS

Norma Holmes, Vice-President, Arlene Koedyker, Treasurer, Edward Stahley, President, Patricia Kennedy, Secretary, Dorothy Moelhman, Head Sponsor.

To the teachers of G.H.S., we, the seniors, would like to express our deepest appreciation for their patient efforts and understanding while trying to make us useful and intelligent citizens, both before and after graduation.

We are extremely grateful to our parents for all the sacrifices they have made to give us a good education toward preparing us for life careers.

To all athletes and sports fans of this school, and those that shall come after us, we have tried to show the spirit of true sportsmanship and support of our teams, and hope they will display the same spirit in the coming years.

To the juniors, we leave our duties in running most of the activities of G.H.S., and the job of setting a good example for all underclassmen.

To the sophomores, we leave our incentive to work and better ourselves for the future.

To the freshmen, we leave our realization of what our important schooling has meant to us and the task of carrying on the traditions and good name of Griffith High School in an honorable way.

To the above mentioned persons and everyone else interested in the welfare of our school, we leave this final thought—our class motto:

"We build the ladder by which we rise."

GRADE SCHOOL SCENES

How can a team lose with cheerleaders such as these. There is plenty of fun at school; it isn't all work. It won't be long and these boys will be varsity stars. Artistic tendencies are shown in the winter window displays.

CADETS AT WORK

Learning to tell time is easy when you have a teacher like Pat Kennedy. Under the watchful guidance of Alicia Hamende these students will progress. Class discussion is well planned when Alma Bannon has charge of it.

ANNUAL STAFF

Barbara Linson, Jill Turner, Madelon Graves, Eileen Mang, and Mary Blanchard examine yearbooks with a critical eye. When Marilyn Ribordy, Panther Press Editor, and Norma Holmes, Annual Editor, get together a job is turned out that is well done. Virginia Norris, Theresa Drapac, Doris Kelleher, and Martha Dittrich leaf through pictures that are to be used in the annual.

PANTHER PRESS

Virginia Norris, Theresa Drapac, and Barbara Linson discuss the articles they have written for the school paper. Eileen Mang and Mary Blanchard do a neat, quick job of running of the pages. Doris Kelleher, Norma Holmes, and Jill Turner busily at work striving to meet their deadline. Martha Dittrich, Art Clemens, and Madelon Graves intent on headlining the pages for the paper.

FATHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET

The two above scenes were taken at the 1949-1950 Father-Daughter Banquet. It has been the annual custom for the last three years to have such a banquet as this. The banquet is sponsored by the Girls' Council and they also sponsor a Mother-Daughter Banquet. It is a grand time for all to get acquainted.

1948-1949 PROM

Andrew Matias and Joan Joyce as they are being crowned King and Queen by last years King, Ray Lazar, and Queen, Jean Swingler. The royalty stands awaiting your judgement. Queen Jean and King Andy are happy indeed as they step into view. The grand march is the climax of a wonderful evening.

1949-1950 G.A.A. DANCE

G.A.A. officers and their escorts stand at attention. The grand march is now underway and is being enjoyed by all. A scene like this is not an unfamiliar sight on this historic night. G.A.A. sponsor and the president lead the way.

COMMON SCENES

The ball is thrown with ease by Gene Friant, but will it go in? What can these three fellow seniors be planning now. These couples seem to be very happy, don't you agree? What a pretty picture these two school teachers make. Couples talking to each other between classes is not an unusual scene. They really learn to do things right in the home economics classes. What is the occasion for this gathering? Oh boy, keeping score is such fun! The senior boys' club in full attendance. They make a cute couple, don't they.
